

Plastics and Human Health Symposium

Monday, September 23, 2024
Tuesday, September 24, 2024

About the Symposium

The NYU Langone Health Center for the Investigation of Environmental Hazards (CIEH) will kick off Climate Week NYC on September 23 and 24, 2024, for a two-day in-person scientific symposium on Plastics and Human Health here at NYU. The first day will cover the gamut of issues, from microplastics to chemicals, across all the organ systems impacted, while the second day will have a heavy translational emphasis and an eye toward the Global Plastics Treaty, which have had four rounds of International Negotiations Committee meetings that have revealed some of the difficulties in shaping an agreement to reduce plastic production and consumption.

Keynote Speakers:

- Jo Banner, Co-Founder & Co-Director, The Descendants Project
- Nihan Karali, PhD, Eng/Env Policy Researcher III, Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory, UC Berkeley
- Jane Muncke, PhD, MSc, Managing Director, Food Packaging Forum
- Pete Myers, PhD, founder and Chief Scientist of Environmental Health Sciences, Adjunct Professor, Mellon College of Science, Carnegie Mellon University
- Maria P. Neira, MD, MPH, Director of the Department of Environment, Climate Change and Health at the World Health Organization
- Robert Sargis, MD, PhD, Associate Professor, University of Illinois at Chicago
- Luis Vayas Valdivieso, LL.M., Ambassador of Ecuador to the U.K., Chair of Intergovernmental Negotiating Committee (INC)
