Emergency Medicine Simulation Fellowship

Second Year Fellow

Class of 2025

Kevin Hon, DO

Hometown: San Marino, CA

Residency: New York-Presbyterian Queens

Medical school: Western University of Health Sciences

Areas of interest/Hobbies: Triathlon/Running, Boulderling, Mahjong, Travel

Why I chose NYU Langone: Simulation fellowship primarily interests me in how it teaches residents and medical students different from the traditional conference format. I want to master using the sim mannequins and how to correctly debrief and walk learners through the structured, organized process of teaching in "Sim Land". Through fellowship, I want to look further into and analyze simulation and gamification effects on residents' learning compared to traditional conference education. I hope that by applying for a 2 year fellowship, I will be able to take the many lessons I have gained through my residency experience and inspire the future generation of EM physicians.

First Year Fellow

Class of 2025

Anne Levine, MD

Hometown: New York, New York

Residency: New York University School of Medicine/Bellevue Hospital

Medical school: Rutgers Robert Wood Johnson Medical School

Areas of interest/Hobbies: Running, traveling, and attempts to master a recipe inspired by NYT Cooking as I sip on a beer and rewatch Queer Eye.

Why I chose NYU Langone: I am interested in NYU because of the opportunity to work with learners at all levels, emphasis on quality and improvement, and division focus on fellow and junior faculty development. After working in the various NYU and Bellevue hospital sites over the past few years, I can't see myself anywhere else. There is a culture of life-long learning and optimism that I see residents and faculty demonstrate on shift. As a New Yorker, I feel at home in our clinical sites and connected to the struggles our patients face.
