Current Trainees

PGY1

Jessica Alkana, MD

Medical School: Ross University School of Medicine, Barbados

Hometown: Victoria, BC

Areas of Interest: neuropsychiatry, dementia

Hobbies: Hobbies Tennis, traveling and golf

Why chose NYU Langone? It is an excellent program with well-regarded faculty

PGY2

Jordan Intrator, MD

Medical School: Hackensack Meridian School of Medicine, USA

Hometown: Woodmere, NY

Areas of Interest: interventional neuropsychiatry, neuromodulation, neurodevelopmental disorders, medical education

Hobbies: Running, following my favorite sports teams, spending time with friends and family, and meditation.

Why chose NYU Langone? There were many reasons why I chose NYU. One that stands out is the quality of the clinical experience and training that I knew I would receive. The variety of clinical settings and systems offered between Tisch, Bellevue, and the VA along with the range of pathologies and diversity of its patient population left me with little doubt that I will be trained to thrive in every and any clinical situation.

PGY3

Victor Demetrio, DO

Medical School: Liberty University College of Osteopathic Medicine, USA

Hometown: Sao Paulo, Brazil --> Orlando, Florida

Areas of Interest: Psychedelics, epilepsy, PNES, neuropsychiatry, neuropsychanalysis

Hobbies: Writing poetry/stories, hiking, traveling, music, design

Why chose NYU Langone? At NYU and Bellevue, not only are there endless opportunities and a supportive environment to explore my interests, but most importantly, I'm fortunate to share this experience with co-residents who are some of the kindest and most wholesome people I have met - all while living in arguably the greatest city in the world!

PGY4

David Zheng, MD

Medical School: Perelman School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, USA

Hometown: Massachusetts

Areas of Interest: Neuro-psychiatry, Neuro-modulation, Forensic Psychiatry, and Cognitive Neuroscience of music

Hobbies: Seeing comedy shows and live music, also a musician (Jazz pianist and music producer).

PGY6

Anlys Olivera, MD
