

Electronic Long Form (ELF) Disclosure of Arthur Caplan, PhD

February 2021

I serve as the unpaid chair of the Compassionate Use Advisory Committees (CompAC), independent panels of internationally recognized medical experts, bioethicists, and patient representatives formed by NYU Grossman School of Medicine in collaboration with Janssen Pharmaceuticals. CompAC advises Janssen about requests for “compassionate use” of its investigational medicines. NYU receives administrative funding from Janssen to facilitate the CompAC committees.

I am a paid member of an advisory board for WIRB/WCG on human subjects research standards. In this role I discuss emerging issues in research ethics with WIRB/WCG leadership at meetings held three times a year. I also give lectures on research ethics topics to WIRB/WCG staff and fellows. The Division of Medical Ethics also has a grant from WIRB/WCG to provide education as part of an annual international research ethics fellows educational program held at NYU Langone.

I was a paid member of an advisory committee on access to pediatric drugs for Biomarin in 2020.

I consulted 2018-2021 for Sangamo, Sanofi, Novartis (all compassionate use–related, all unpaid); FNIH (unpaid); Abeona (paid); Cabaletta (paid); Penn Orphan Disease Center’s Advisory Board (unpaid).

I am on the advisory boards of the NCAA Covid and Sports committee, WHO MEURI committee, the Lancet Commission on Covid and Vaccine Hesitancy, and the US Conference of Mayors Committee on Sports, Recreation and Covid all unpaid.

I have done legal work over the past three years for these law firms/organizations:

Parker Waichman LLP,
Nelson Mullins Riley & Scarborough
NY State AG opioid litigation

I have given the following speeches, some for which I was paid or received more than $500 for travel (2020):

2/24 & 25 University of Kansas: presentation to graduate students and their faculty mentors

2/27/20 Medscape staff

3/13/20 TALK/Keynote Lecture American College of Medical Toxicology)
5/21/20 Yale-OBGYN Grand Rounds Invitation for Silidker Memorial Lecture
8/5/20 Academic Impressions Webinar
10/8/20 Annual Justine Bonsignore Zompa, MD Memorial Lecture. Alpert Medical School, Brown University and the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology
12/1/20 Rosemont College
12/18/20 St Jude Children's Research Hospital

I have done webinars on compassionate use over the past three years for Janssen Pharmaceuticals. I was not paid.

I have a paid contract with Web MD/Medscape to record op-eds on topics in medical ethics every month for use on its website.

I do a regular radio segment weekly for WGBH radio in Boston (unpaid).

I tweet frequently at @ArthurCaplan, if you are interested in my political views.

I do not comment on cases or policies involving NYU Langone Health or NYU Grossman School of Medicine.
