Ruth Nussenzweig Memorial Symposium
Celebrating a Life Devoted to Malaria Research

In Memory of
Ruth Nussenzweig, MD, PhD, June 20th, 1928–April 1st, 2018

January 30th, 2019
9:30AM–2:00PM | Alumni Hall B
550 First Ave, NYU Langone Health
AGENDA
JANUARY 30th, 2019

8:45am–9:30am  BREAKFAST

9:30am–9:45am  WELCOME & INTRODUCTION
Ana Rodriguez, PhD
Associate Professor,
Department of Microbiology,
NYU Langone Health

9:45am–11:45am  LECTURES

9:45am–10:25am  Foundations and future of the malaria sporozoite vaccine
Fidel Zavala, MD
Professor, Department of Molecular Microbiology & Immunology,
Bloomberg School of Public Health,
Johns Hopkins University

10:25am–11:05am  Targeting the malaria liver stage as a strategy for malaria elimination
Elizabeth Winzeler, PhD
Professor, Pharmacology & Drug Discovery,
Department of Pediatrics,
University of California San Diego

11:05am–11:45am  The complexity and the simplicity of host-Plasmodium interactions
Maria M. Mota, PhD
Professor & Executive Director,
Instituto de Medicina Molecular,
Lisbon, Portugal

11:45am–12:00pm  FINAL REMARKS AND AWARDS
Iannis Aifantis, PhD
Chair, Department of Pathology

12:00pm–2:00pm  RECEPTION

Organizer: NYU Langone Health Department of Pathology
Sponsor: Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation
Support: NYU Langone Health Department of Microbiology
Acknowledgments: Eva Hernando-Monge, PhD, Caterina Berti, PhD, Michelle Wicinski, Ben Zapp