WHRN engages with employees, employers, and a wide array of community partners to advance knowledge, implement and evaluate effective, comprehensive and integrated approaches to promote and protect worker health, safety and well-being.

WHO WE ARE

6 centers
- Johns Hopkins University
- University of Illinois at Chicago
- University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
- University of Minnesota
- University of Washington
- New York University-City University of New York

3 working groups
- Capacity and Dissemination
- Employees
- Tools and Resources

WHAT WE’RE DOING

- Redefining workplace as workspace for hard to reach workers
- Involving community members to identify solutions
- Building health promotion into job training and worker outcomes
- Gathering data on the current state workplace health promotion in America
- Promoting health in small, low-wage workplaces

EXAMPLES OF OUR WORK

- Training Latino workers after Superstorm Sandy
- Examining paid sick leave and workplace health promotion in NYC restaurants
- Disseminating Community Guide evidence-based and best practice programs for employers
- Analyzing data from the Transamerica Center for Health Studies Nielsen Surveys
- Training home health care workers in health promotion
- National survey of U.S. employers’ health programs and practices
- National survey of state and health departments’ workplace & health and safety activities
- HealthLinks – online training in workplace health promotion for Washington state local health departments

WHY RESEARCH MATTERS

- Reaches the 146 million Americans who spend the majority of their waking hours at work each day
- Influences working Americans with lifesaving health information, programs and services that can help promote health, prevent diseases
- Refers people into treatment programs earlier, with less cost and hardship
- Finds ways to create healthier workplaces, with access to evidence-based programs, policies, benefits and environmental supports
- Enhances employee health and the bottom line of businesses

WHAT WE’VE DONE

1 website
3 reports
4 grant applications
10 published articles
11 presentations
11 articles in review
19 research & dissemination activities